FUNDING FOR EDUCATION AND EXCHANGE PROJECTS

The Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership (CGP) awards grants to US and Japanese nonprofit organizations for collaborative bilateral and multilateral projects that contribute to the improvement of US-Japan relations and the world's welfare. CGP is seeking proposals for its Regional/Grassroots Program in the following areas:

EDUCATION

CGP supports projects that aim to improve education about Japan aimed at the K-12 level, such as professional development and curriculum development initiatives. CGP places priority on teacher training projects that build networks among educators interested in Japan and projects that facilitate collaboration between scholars and teachers to develop teaching resources.

GRASSROOTS EXCHANGE

CGP provides support for US-Japan and multilateral exchanges at the grassroots level that enable citizens of each country to work collaboratively on global issues of common concern and to build networks, with particular emphasis on youth exchange projects and so change is develop the nonprofit sector in both countries. Support is also provided for projects that increase public awareness and understanding of issues facing the United States and Japan.

For a copy of our Grant Application Guidelines and further information about these and other grant fellowship opportunities, please visit our website at www.cgp.org or contact CGP directly.
